

CONTENT

CHAPTER 1. NATIONAL AND REGIONAL ECONOMY

Vdovenko N., Koval V., Zos-Kior M. Regulation of agricultural development for import substitution of agricultural products taking into account decentralization and impact of international trade	13
Hanusych V., Solnoki P. Correlational analysis of inflation and unemployment in Ukraine and the countries of the European Union	25
Pataki G., Loskorikh G., Perchy O. Managerial challenges for micro and small enterprises: statistical analysis in Ukraine and Hungary	39
Thalmeiner G., Gáspár S., Tóth M. Lean performance evaluation of dairy cow farming processes with mathematical model development	54
Nyikos B.-R., Keresztes G., Pankotay F.-M. Analysis of social media marketing activities of Hungarian accommodation providers and catering SME's from the aspect of lean principles	65
Maklári E. Economic comparison between conventionally powered and electric cars	75
Eperjesi Z. The energy economy of Hungary and Austria in the conditions of the transformation of the global environment	86
Horváth Á-B. Cloud-based solutions used by hungarian SMEs and analysis of its effects	101
Barabásné Kárpáti D., Csákné Filep Ju. Competences of students and expectations of employers regarding competencies in the training of teachers in economics.	112
Fejes N. The situation of the Ukrainian economy during the coronavirus pandemic	122
Mohácsi M., Fényes H. Career and Family Plans of Higher Education Students as Risk Factors for their future employers' HR Management	140
Bodzsár-Urbán É., Bárczi Ju. Economic efficiency of innovations in cultural institutions: the case of museums	158
Cherep A., Voronkova V., Andriukaitene R., Denysenko M. Socio-economic security in the context of the international economic climate to ensure the competitiveness of the economy	172
Cherep O., Bexhter L., Tabolkin V. Methods of continuous professional development of enterprise personnel	180

CHAPTER 2. FINANCE AND BANKING

Bacho R., Virlich S. Analysis of company's business processes: experience in Ukraine and international practices	188
Poyda-Nosyk N., Németh E., Kálmán B.-G. A conative approach to financial personality	201
Kucherkova S., Matvienko G. State support and regulatory measures for the development of artificial intelligence in the energy sector of Ukraine	215
Budai E., Denich E. The financial bravery of generation Z	227
Kőrössy L.-I., Makszim Györgyné Nagy T. Hungary's pension system: demographical challenges and preventive measures	242
Ohorodnyk V., Vartsaba V., Makarovych V. Real Estate Capital Investments in Ukraine in the Modern Realities	258
Pionório P., Sebestyén Z. An integrative review of project portfolio management ranking criteria - understanding better the decision-making process	271
Oleynikova L., Lyshchenko E. European experience of reducing the administrative burden on taxpayers	288

CHAPTER 3. ACCOUNTING AND TAXATION

Khomyn P. Capital and tax policy: Quo Vadis?	299
Vyhivska I., Hrytsak O., Shebeshten E. Organizational and methodological support for accounting and auditing of the investment real estate transactions	308
Füredi-Fülöp Ju., Várkonyiné Juhász M. Accounting of revenue in Hungarian national and international accounting regulations	328
Koshil A., Meliankova L. Managerial reporting in information technology support	338
Loskorikh G. Features of the tax consultant profession in Hungary	345
Stashenko Yu., Gavrylovskiy O. International experience in transfer pricing	358
Borzán A., Kardos B. Students' opinion of digital accounting teaching	368
Tóth E., Vörös Gy. Some features of church operation and management in Hungary: accounting aspects.	382
General requirements for manuscripts	393